She is currently a freshman majoring in English Literature at UC Clermont. She's very passionate when it comes to writing and loves to read. When it comes to reading though, she loves the realm of mythology especially Egyptian. Her biggest dream is to one day take a trip to Egypt to actually see the Great Pyramid of Giza.

Katelyn Moore

I'm a former UC Clermont student. I've grown up in this area my whole life.

Sam Nski

I'm a Paleo Artist, and an aspiring paleontologist, studying Geology and Fine Arts at the University Of Cincinnati. When I'm not drawing or hiking, I'm collecting rocks- fossils are my favorite, but lately I've started a mineral collection. I do a lot of work as the president of UC's Geology club, and am frequently at geology related events around the area. I have a passion for the Geosciences, and it's my dream to make information about the Geosciences more easily available, and more easily digestible for the average person. If I can even teach one person about geology through my art then I will consider my mission a success.

Alisha Yerovi

I am a senior in high school, and have taken college classes for three years. I am primarily interested in studying biology and natural sciences, but have always enjoyed art. I design creatures based on things I observe in nature, usually working in markers and prismacolor pencils. This semester at UC, I took my first-ever art class, which has allowed me to gain more experience with acrylics, as well as greatly expanded my passion for art, which I now plan to pursue further.
